EJ Whitten Legends Game
Tuesday 5th July, 2011

CALLING ALL LOCAL FOOTY LEGENDS! HERE'S YOUR CHANCE TO PLAY IN THE RAY WHITE EJ WHITTEN LEGENDS GAME

For all those local footy legends lamenting the AFL career that could have been, here's a chance to strap on the boots and play alongside AFL's biggest names with The Ray White EJ Whitten Legends Game undertaking a nation-wide search for local footy heroes to take part in the game at Etihad Stadium on Tuesday 5 July 2011.

Now in its 16th year and having raised over $1million dollars in support of prostate cancer research, the Ray White EJ Whitten Legends Game is steeped in history with many local footy legends having played on the big stage with past AFL champions. Who could forget Mornington Player, Simon Goosey when he kicked a swag of goals in 2005 or 74 year old footy veteran, Cobber Rogers when he lined up on Sam Newman last year?

With two guernseys up for grabs, one Victorian and one Allstars jumper, two lucky players selected for their passion, performance and commitment to their local club, will have the chance to play at the elite level and shine alongside some true footy legends with more than 20,000 people looking on from the stands as well as a huge television audience.

"We want players who love the game and support their team, with a touch of mongrel, just like the great Ted Whitten", said Anthony Koutoufides, who is set to Captain the Victorian team this year.

According to Adelaide Crows legend, Mark Ricciuto, "this is probably the only time that your backyard banana might actually earn you a state guernsey".

If you think you, or a friend, have what it takes, don't leave your tall tales in the change rooms, tell us why you should be taking the field at www.legendsgame.com.au before Friday 24 June.

Entrants must be registered player with a club and each nomination requires a $10 donation to the EJ Whitten Foundation to assist with prostate cancer research.
